

When you believe that Jesus died for your sins and trust Him as your Savior (instead of depending on the good things that you have done) you will be saved. You will become God's own child and will go to his home in Heaven some day.

WHERE ARE YOU GOING?

"Wow! No more school till September!" Tim thought. Camp week had been so much fun – swimming, rock climbing, hiking, crafts, Bible stories... Now he could play all day long! Picking up his fishing pole, he started for the creek.

Tim skipped a few stones across the water as he waited for his friends. Ducks flew away as the stones skimmed over the water. Bees buzzed and birds sang. Then all was quiet. Tim felt so tired in the warm sunshine and was soon fast asleep under a big tree.

In a few moments Tim began to dream that his friends were going in a different direction without their fishing poles. In his dream he called, "Billie, Susie, David, where are you going?" They called back, "We're going to heaven. Hurry. Come with us!"

.... In his dream he called, "Billie, Susie, David, where are you going?"

"Heaven," thought Tim as he dreamed. "Yes, I would like to go, too. My camp teacher said the Bible says it is a beautiful place. There are no fights or bad words or big bullies there. No one ever gets sick. Angels live in heaven and best of all, Jesus is there!"

So in his dream, Tim got up and raced towards his friends. But suddenly he stopped. "Oh, no" he thought. "My teacher said there is no sin in heaven. I've done bad things like telling lies and disobeying my parents."

Turning around, he ran home. "I've got to find something that will prove I'm a good boy so God will let me into heaven," he said to himself. He quickly looked around his room.

"Here's my perfect attendance certificate for going to Sunday School. Here's my school report card with almost all A's. This is my New Testament that I read every night before I say my prayers. And here's the football Grandma gave me for being a good boy." He stuffed them into his backpack. He would show God what a good boy he was.

Still dreaming, he saw his friends reach heaven's door and go inside. Finally, panting and tired, Tim arrived at the door. He knocked loudly. "Why should I let you in?" someone asked kindly. Tim opened his backpack and pulled out one thing after another, as he said, "I've been a very good boy. See what I brought along to show you." But as he put his hand into his backpack to pull out his certificate, he found a rag. Instead of his report card there was another dirty rag. Slowly, the door began close. "But " Tim stammered. "I'm sorry, Tim," the person said sadly.

Suddenly a breeze rustled the leaves on the tree above him. Tim woke up! It had been a dream! He rubbed his eyes and shook his head. He remembered what his teacher had asked at camp.

"Can we get to heaven by being good?"

"Can we get to heaven by saying our prayers at night?"

"Can we get to heaven by going to church every Sunday?"

"The Bible says, NO," his teacher had explained. "These are good things but we have sinned and our sins must be punished. The Bible says, 'For ALL have sinned, and come short of the glory of God.' (Romans 3:23) No sin can get into heaven."

Tim understood. He could do nothing to make himself good enough to go to heaven. Jesus died for his sins. He must believe on

'For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God.' (Romans 3:23)

Him and Jesus would forgive his sins and make him God's own child. The Bible says, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and you shall be saved." (Acts 16:31) That is what Billie, Susie and David had done. Jesus had forgiven their sins. Tim believed on the Lord Jesus as his Savior that very day.

They called back, "We're going to heaven. Hurry. Come with us!"
